Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

IN MEMORIAM.

The passing of Oscar Odegaard last evening is a grevious blow to this community. It is a rare experience in life to have known a man who combined in his character and activities so much that was humanly lovable. He was a loving father and each of his four children were his pals and friends, as well as daughters and sons. He was a devoted husband whose domestic life was a well spring of constant joy. From his family life his love of his fellow men drew its inspiration and strength. His capacity for friendship with men in every social station was a dominant characteristic. Loving his children he loved to do good things for Boy Scouts and Camp Fire Girls. Loving his fellow men he served his community with civic devotion and unselfish enthusiasm.

Oscar Odegaard's place in the Elks and the Rotary club will never be filled precisely as he filled it. His was an enthusiasm, a youthful and buoyant outlook upon life and its problems that few of us, who grieve at his going, possess. He loved this life and gloried in sports and physical activities, such as, when Nevada City was fairly snowbound, skiing down Broad street from his home to his office on top of Boulder street.

His life was rich in inspiration for all youth. He was the son of Norwegian immigrants who came to this land of greater opportunity. He rose step by step to positions of honor and trust. In his youth he was a structural ironworker in San Francisco, a calling that requires great physical courage and stamina. He was born with these qualities. The Norse blood of adventure and achievement manifested itself throughout his life. His own experience and rise enriched his relationship with those associated with him in his work. He was affectionate, sympathetic and understanding with those who wrought with him in his daily work. Kindness was never a formality with him. It was a spontaneous and integral part of his character.

He was passionately fond of music and rejoiced that some of his children studied instrumental music. He was himself a considerable instrumentalist. He joyed in singing. No one in the Rotary club will ever sing "The Bells of St. Mary's" again without thinking of their friend, whose favorite song this was. For he was the founder of Rotary here, its first president, its guide and its councillor. He believed in and practiced the principle of Rotary: "He profits most, who serves the best." Fundamentally his was a deeply religious nature.

We repeat in his memory Leigh Hunt's little poem, which we think appropriate to the passing of Oscar Odegaard:

Abou-ben-Ahmed (may his tribe increase)
Awoke one night from a deep dream of peace,
And saw within the moonlight of his room,
Making it rich, and like a lily in bloom,
An angel writing in a book of gold:—
Exceeding peace had made Ben-Adhem bold,
And to the presence in the room he said,
"What writest thou?" The vision raised its head,
And with a look made of all sweet accord,
Answered, "The names of those who love the Lord."
"And is mine one?" said Abou. "Nay no so,"
Replied the angel, "Abou spoke more low,
But cheerily still; and said, "I pray thee, then,
"Write me down as one who loved his fellow men."
The angel wrote and vanished. The next night
It came again with a great wakening light,
And showed the names whom love of God had blessed,
And lo! Ben-Adhem's name led all the rest.

MOTHER, BABE KILLED IN AUTO, TRAIN CRASH

Mrs. Raymond Ferry of Grass Valley died 15 minutes after being brought to Jones Memorial Hospital her nine months old daughter Donna Rae, was killed instantly and four year old daughter, Margaret Elaine, lies in the same hospital critically injured with a skull fracture, the result of the mother driving up over a little grade and pulling up in front of an engine of a big moving train near Alta yesterday afternoon a short time after two o'clock. It is stated the train hit the car in the center. There were six in the automobile the others being Raymond Ferry, the husband, who is badly cut and bruised about the face and head; Joe Rule and Herbert Rowse, the latter two being badly shaken up but not injured.

Coroner Francis West of Placer county where the accident occurred, brought the injured people to Grass Valley. The Ferrys resided at 640 Mill street in Grass Valley. The theory is advanced that all were talking and did not hear nor see the train until it was too late. It is stated also that Mrs. Ferry was thrown from the wheel of the car into the back seat by the terrific impact of the moving car and train.

HIGHER TAX TO RESULT FROM BIGGER BUDGET

SACRAMENTO, April 23.—State Administration proposed new and additional taxes totaling $63,900,000 apparently aimed at the business men in reality are leveled at and if passed will ultimately be borne by the working men, warned Assemblyman Jesse R. Kellems of West Los Angeles in a statement today.

Provisions for the additional taxes are contained in plans projected by the present state administration for the next biennium starting July first.

Pointing to the recent tax revolt in the San Joaquin valley, Kellems said the people of California had reached the breaking point in their ability to pay more taxes.

"There is an end beyond which we cannot go," the Southern California legislator said. "With this in mind the economy minded group in both houses of the state legislature are devoting every effort to reduce appropriation requests which are not absolutely necessary for efficient conduct of governmental functions."

Apprehension over the administration's proposed 'tax grab' is reflected in hundreds of messages to members of the assembly and senate urging them to defeat all legislation calling for new and increased financial burdens, Kellems stated, adding that there was a "deplorable lack of real understanding" by citizens of the state as to who ultimately bears the tax burden.

Specific taxes proposed are:

1. Personal income tax, $13,100,000; 2. Bank and corporation franchise tax, $22,700,000; 3. Severance tax, $12,000,000; 4. Inheritance tax, $3,000,000; 5. Gift tax, $1,000,000; 6. Alcoholic beverage taxes, $9,450,000; 7. Pari-mutuel horse racing fees, $2,000,000; 8. State park maintenance and acquisition fund (oil royalties) $650,000.

ROWDIES AT OLYMPIA PARK FACING ARREST

Quite a disturbance was made at the Lake Olympia dance Saturday evening when it is alleged several youths attempted to enter the place without paying entrance fees. Louie LeDuc, deputy sheriff at the lake, met the group and several of them received severe blows from his club when they continued to make trouble. Today it is stated warrants of arrest were issued far a youth named Verlod and five John Does, and Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen went to Grass Valley during the afternoon to serve them.

CHIMNEY FIRE

A chimney fire in the Elks lodge this forenoon brought out the local fire department and the blaze was soon extinguished with chemicals. No damage was caused.

Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Netz and sons motored to Martinez during the week end and returned with their daughter, Mrs. Eugene Price and small son whi will visit here for a time.

Supervisor DeWitt Nelson of the Tahoe National Forest spoke to the Downieville Lions Club Friday evening his topic being "Relation of National Forest Reserve to the Community."

Miss Nellie Jones of Downieville is spending a vacation in Nevada City and Grass Valley visiting friends. Her uncle was the late H. S. Tibbey editor of a paper in her home city several years ago.

OSCAR ODEGAARD ANSWERS SUDDEN DEATH SUMMONS

Oscar Odegaard, manager of the Nevada County Lumber Company, passed away last evening at 7:15 o'clock. His sudden passing was a shock to the entire community in which he had lived for the past four years. A heart attack caused death.

Funeral services will be held at St. Canice church Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock under direction of Holmes Funeral Home.

Oscar Odegaard, widely beloved both in Nevada City and Marysville, where for many years he was manager of the Diamond Match company's branch yard, leaves beside a mourning community, his wife Gertrude, and four children: Oscar Jr., James, Margaret, and Jeanne. Oscar, the older son is finishing his junior year in Santa Clara College. The two daughters are students in Nevada City high school. James has been attending junior college.

All his family and himself were talented in music.

He took an active part in civic affairs. He was founder of the Rotary club in this city and an officer of the Elks. He was a member of the Chamber of Commerce and took an active interest, often giving his time and means, in building up and aiding the Boy Scouts and Camp Fire Girls.

Mr. Odegaard was a native of Wisconsin. In his early life he had been a structural iron worker in San Francisco. Some years later he became manager of the old Shasta Lumber Company in Marysville. When this company was purchased by the Diamond Match company he became manager of the Marysville branch.

Two months ago he was seriously injured in an auto accident on the Tahoe Ukiah highway, when his car skidded on the icy pacement and went off the road and into a canyon. He had recovered, to all outward appearance, from injuries sustained then, and his friends rejoiced when he became his old self again.

His death came a half hour after he and Mrs. Odegaard had entertained friends at dinner last evening.

An appreciation of his character is given in the first column on this page.

NARROW GAUGE EMPLOYES FORM ORGANIZATION

Employees of the Nevada County Narrow Gauge Railroad met at the Nevada City Club in Nevada City Saturday evening to enjoy a get-together and banquet. The members formed a union and elected Tom Kennedy president in recognition of his 47 years service with the company. This faithful employee will conduct the affairs of the new union as wholeheartedly and as loyally as he has worked for his company.

A chosen group will meet later to form by-laws and a constitution and negotiate contracts and agreements with the management.

Table decorations were in keeping with the work of the group of men. Flags of the rail employees arranged about the famous old brass bell from Engine number nine formed the centerpiece. Movies of the old railroad and equipment were shown after the dinner.

GRASS VALLEY MINERS DEFEAT WOODLAND NINE

Barney Ruggles of Nevada City led the Grass Valley Miners baseball team to score a 9 to 6 victory over the Woodland Oaks in a Sacramento Valley league game at Grass Valley yesterday. Ruggles made two sensational catches in center field to stun the record crowd attending the game. The catches saved the scoring of several runs and possible was responsible for the Grass Valley victory. In addition Ruggles hit the ball hard. Vierra, new Grass Valley pitcher with a fine record, allowed 13 hits but managed by good support to carry on through the whole game.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Davidson who are on the Sadie D. and Birdie L. claims in the Snow Point district near North Bloomfield, were visitors in Nevada City a short time Thursday evening.

Radical Bills In Legislature To Aid Labor Racketeers

By ASSEMBLYMAN THURMAN

There are numerous labor bills before the state legislature this session several of which, if passed, would seriously affect the people of Nevada County. Two of these bills, A. B. 104 and A. B. 105, introduced by Assemblyman Ben Rosenthal of Los Angeles, would prevent any county from passing an ordinance prohibiting picketing. These bills, if they became a law, would simply open up Nevada County and all of the other counties to labor racketeers and the radical labor element of the worst type. Their enactment would take away from the people of Nevada County their right to protect and govern themselves. In the bills, picketing is referred to as "peaceful picketing" but I know that I do not have to tell the readers of this newsapper that this so-called peaceful picketing, has been everything but peaceful picketing as far as Nevada County is concerned. No one, I am sure objects to peaceful picketing if it is peaceful, but when the kind of picketing as has been done in Nevada County is disguised as peaceful picketing in a legislative bill, you good people of the mountains I know, can not favor such a bill.

These bills would prevent your own sheriff from interfering with picketing. He could not even arrest these radical labor trouble makers from the outside. And right here I want to take my hat off to Sheriff Carl Tobiassen, a real sheriff with the intestinal fortitude to protect the people of his home county from such radical labor invaders as those led by Tom Mooney and Harry Bridges.

Let me quote you a pargraph from A. B. 104: "Every person has the right to give publicity to, and to obtain or communicate information regarding the existence of, or the facts involved in, any labor dispute, whether by advertising, speech, patrolling any public street or any place where anw person may lawfully be, and no person, city, county, city and county, municipal corporation or political subdivision of this State or State agency, officer or employee, shall interfere with the exercise of these rights."

A. B. 105 contains the same language the only difference being that one bill amends the Civil Code and the other the Labor Code.

Such a law as this would undoubtedly make invalid any ordinance a county might pass prohibiting any kind of picketing.

Disguised as peaceful picketing, these bills are now awaiting consideration on the floor of the assembly. Do you people of Nevada County want these bills to become a law?

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder if you'll pause to hear
A little tale of yesteryear,
When coal oil ruled the Ridge at night
Because there was no other light
To pierce the dusky evening gloom
And make the murky shadows bloom.

I wonder how many recall the circumstances; a presidential campaign was agitating the land and here on the San Juan Ridge, feeling ran high and torrid.

The republicans had a voice; Judge O. P. Stidger, editor of the San Juan Times, dipped his facile pen in sulphuric acid and wrote sizzling diatribes which delighted political friends and disturbed the minds of his opponents.

In the little town of Sweetland, two able democratic leaders, kept the pot boiling and infused courage into others of like faith.

Children caught the spirit of their elders, sprouted ideas of their own and debated issues of the day, read history, and held to their individual beliefs with marked tenacity.

During noon hours and at recess time, they met upon the Indian rocks in the school yard, and disputed until the bell called them back to less exciting occupations.

The school house had recently been provided with new chandeliers, one somewhat larger than the other—and the children agreed to name the more imposing one for the victor in the presidential race.

Election day came and passed; results were awaited with tense interest, but at length the news came to Sweetland; down the road leading to the town clattered the afternoon stage, its driver waving a copy of the Times with one hand and driving mountain style with the other. Eager persons seated upon the porch of James Wood's general store scanned the sheet intently; one glance was sufficient; across the front page strutted a row of ink black roosters, breasts expanded to capacity, heads thrown back, bills opened wide with a triumphant cock-a-doodle doo. The republicans had won!

For several days the republicans of Sweetland gloated openly while the democrats wore sack cloth and ashes and ate crow in great humility of spirit; then upon another afternoon the stage brought other news; again the driver waved a copy of the Times; again it was seized upon and this time stared at unbelievingly. Across the front page they saw a row of pale, dejected rosters; ragged tails drooped miserably, breasts were completely concave, heads were lowered to the ground. The official count had reversed the first findings, and given the victory to Cleveland and Hendricks.

The chandeliers in the school house were promptly rechristened, and the two "leading democrats" called their jubilant companions about them and all went into a huddle. This great and long deferred democratic ascendency to power, should be celebrated in a fitting manner. After several consulations and much thoughtful consideration, the event was celebrated by what is remembered by long time residents of the Ridge, as the Sweetland Illumination; but of this historic event, I shall tell you next week; if you wish to know how much light was brought to bear upon this never-to-be-forgotten occasion—please be listening.

Uncle Silas says: "The republicans might have won that battle if Blaine hadn't invented certain alliterative slagon; which goes to show that a man can say much too much with just a few words." —A. MERRIAM CONNER.

"SCOOP" THURMAN
AT THE STATE CAPITOL

Your assemblyman lost anw won in the legislation debated on the floor of the assembly last week affecting our Sixth Assembly District. So we know how it feels to lose legislative battles as well as win them.

A. G. Thurman

However the legislative fight we lost may only be a temporary defeat inasmuch as we have the matter held up in the assembly upon a motion to reconsider.

The bill lost was A. B. 814, which would allow preremptory challenge of a trial judge.

The bill would add to other grounds for disqualification of a judge the belief of a member of either side in a court action that he cannot have a fair and impartial trial before that jurist. It would give the judge five days in which to answer the challenge.

It would also hinder the routine court proceedings in rural areas where the number of judges available is small.

Upholding our contention, the San Francisco Chronicle commented as follows:

"Approving the bill to permit an attorney one challenge of a trial judge, the assembly has passed to the senate the duty of killing a measure whose sole effect would be to impede procedure and obstruct justice. If an attorney objects to trying a case before a certain judge, he can state his reason. If the reason is valid, no judge is going to invite criticism by insisting upon a trial in which his prejudice or integrity is challenged. If we are going to have reputable courts we must give judges some authority and prestige. They cannot be put at the mercy of a lawyer using the privilege of peremptory challenges without stating a cause."

With thirty attorneys in the lower house, some of whom oppose certain judges in their districts, anyone who opposes such a bill almost has two strikes on them when they take the floor in opposition. Some of these attorney legislators have told us of certain judges in their district whom they feel are biased and they desire such a law to protect themselves. However the law now allows them ample protection.

The new law would only make it easier to disqualify a judge.

I am glad to say here that the attorney legislators we have talked to have no such feeling against any of the superior judges of the Sixth Assembly District.

Under the motion to reconsider, those of us who represent the rural area will endeavor this week to have the bill amended so that it will not affect counties having two or less judges.

A labor bill introduced by a Los Angeles assemblyman which would affect the smaller communities because of certain labor hour restrictions was amended in the assembly by the representatives of the rural counties with the result that the author of the bill, unable to recognize his own bill because of the numerous amendments amended his own bill by taking out the hour clause and his bill was passed without any objectionable features as far as the smaller cities and counties were concerned. Other bills of this nature are coming up and it will take considerable effort on the part of rural representatives to prevent their passage. It is legislation such as this which makes it necessary for the rural representatives in the lower house, who are in the minority to keep on their toes to see that the objectionable features are eliminated.

Four bills introduced by the writer passed the lower house the past week. One of them would give the paid constables the right to have their automobiles declared emergency vehicles, allowing them a red light and a siren to be used in the case of emergency. The bill however, does not give them any exemption in case of an accident. Two other bills were amendments to the penal code relating to the payment of fines, while the fourth was a bill relating to the right of privacy in advertising matters. These bills now go to the various senate committees for further hearing.

The fish and game committee of the lower house, of which your assemblwman is a member, has devoted a total of almost eight hours to hearing arguments favoring and opposing four alien fishing bills. The hearings have developed some interesting features, including the fact that the AF of L opposes the bill and the CIO favors the bill. On the other hand testimony has been given that the United States navy is interested in seeing such a bill pass and if the writer receives the information along this line he has asked for direct from Washington, we will vote for such a bill. Up to the present time we have opposed such a bill on the grounds that the bills as proposed were more or less a direct slap against one nation whose citizens cannot become citizens of our country and many of whom have American born children who are American citizens. Up to now we have felt that the spy angle and the flag waving was more or less propaganda to urge the passage of such legislation. However if we are informed direct from Washington that the navy desires such a bill, we will vote for it.

WITH YOUR ASSEMBLYMAN

Similar alien fish bills have been introduced at previous sessions of the legislature and prior to this year they have been known as "cinch bills."

Your legislators in the lower house worked until midnight last Friday attempting to clear up the calendar which now has some four hundred bills listed for consideration. The budget bill, which was last week temporarily sidetracked may come up before the lower house this week. The question now is whether we are going to do a good job on the budget in the lower house or send it over to the senate. with 41 votes and let them take the full responsibility. The writer feels that in taking the $73,000,000 relief item, as well as two other proposed appropriation items, the compulsory health insurance and a half million dollars for a new type of hospital for mildly insane persons, which is still in the experimental stage, out of the budget, if we do nothing more we of the lower house have done our part in trying to assist the taxpayers. And just in case you do not know it, it has been estimated that the compulsory health insurance program would cost the employers and employees of the state about $80,000,000 a year in payroll taxes. Think this over. Mr. Businessman and taxpayers.

And just a last line. At the public hearing of the proposed compulsory health insurance bill held last Tuesday night in the assembly chambers, a spokesman for the Non-Partisan League representing the CIO union offered an amendment to the bill providing that instead of t employer and the employee each paying a one per cent tax, that the employee pay a one-half per cent tax. In presenting the amendment the suokesman told the committee that business could pass the extra tax on to the consumer. Just another hidden tax and once again Mr. and Mrs. General Public would be the goat. That statement alone ought to be sufficient to defeat usch a bill.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By JEAN MARTZ

The junior prom which was held last Friday night was a tremendous success. The decorations were very effective. There were black and silver streamers on the lights, fastened at the bottom with silver stars. On one wall, was a painted skyline with yellow lights showing from the dark skyscrapers and large silver 1940 in the sky. Around the walls imitation rosebushes stood reflected in silver background. Little tables with chairs stood around the rooms and refreshments were served there for those who wished them. The dance programs were black with a silver top hat, cane and gloves depicted on them.

The grand march was led by Margie Clark and Ellsworth Pingree with Bob Reeder and Bernice McQuay in second place. The music was very good and everyone enjoyed the dance very much.

STUDENTS VISIT U. C.

On Friday morning John Muscardini, as a representative of Nevada high school, went to Berkeley to a student body president's convention at the University of California. They were showed around the grounds by their hosts. The boys stayed in fraternity houses. For recreation they went to track meet and baseball game.

SCHOOL MOVIES

On Friday the assembly was entertained by movies which Mr. Kjorlie had taken around school. Some of the pictures were taken on color film and were very beautiful. When Mr. Kjorlie had shown all the movies, he showed still pictures of Yellowstone Park and other spots of beauty. He showed scenes in gardens of Nevada City, which were enjoyed very much.

GRAND BALL

CALIFORNIA HAS 549 STRIKES IN LAST DECADE

BERKELEY, April 24.—California is one of twelve states that has no statutory provision for the mediation or abritration of labor disputes, despite the fact that it had 594 strikes, involving 290,353 workers in the ten year period 1927-36 inclusive. The state had a State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation at one time, being created in 1891 as a three man commission appointed by the governor. But it heard almost no cases at all, and the organic act was finally repealed in 1921.

These facts are stated in a special study on government mediation and arbitration in industrial disputes made at the request of members of the present state legislature by the Bureau of Public Administration of the University of California. The study not only goes into the efforts of state governments to bring industrial peace through mediation or arbitration but details the functioning of the federal government in this regard as well. In the latter activity it shows that the government conciliation services intervened in some 17,000 disputes, involving approximately 16,000,000 workers in the 25-year period 1913-1937, inclusive.

The study notes that twenty four states have provision for compulsory investigation of labor disputes, with or without consent of the parties, involved. This power, however, has very seldom been enforced, as it exists essentially as a threat to use the pressure of public opinion according to the study. Colorado's compulsory investigation law contains the most severe element of "compulsion," since it forbids strikes or lockouts pending investigation and recommendations.
